Good news. Great works. Community Spirit.

ARC Broward, SLA Children's Foundation and Covenant House host networker

ARC Broward, SLA Children's Foundation and Covenant House jointly participated in a Networker social event held at National City Bank in Fort Lauderdale on September 20.

Supporters from each nonprofit organization came to the networker with other professionals in the community to raise funds and awareness.

Matt Leachman, the director of marketing and development at ARC Broward said, "the collaborative effort from all three organizations proves that our community cares and works together, National City Bank is a wonderful host of this event."

ARC Broward is a private nonprofit organization providing supports and assistance primarily to children and adults with mental retardation, autism, Down's syndrome, cerebral palsy, and other developmental disabilities.

Incorporated in 1956 and celebrating 50 years serving the community, ARC Broward provides a continuum of supports to more than 1,200 children and adults with disabilities and employs a caring team of more than 450 health-care, educational, and other professionals.

The SLA Children's Foundation is dedicated to providing grant funding for the most responsive programs in children's cancer today with focus on treatment and research, as well as providing financial assistance to families while their child is receiving potentially lifesaving treatment, which may not be considered by other agencies.

BACH (Benefactors Advancing Covenant House) is a group of individuals who attend monthly social and cultural events to raise money for Covenant House Florida.

Covenant House Florida serves runaway, homeless, and at risk youth under 21 including teen parents and their babies.
